

RUSTY PARROT LODGE & SPA HONORED BY TRAVEL + LEISURE MAGAZINE

Jackson luxury lodge recognized on World's Best List

Jackson, Wyoming—July 30, 2007—Jackson's quintessential luxury lodge The Rusty Parrot Lodge & Spa was rated number 42 on the list of Top 100 hotels in the Continental U.S. and Canada in the just-released August 2007 issue of Travel + Leisure magazine. The magazine conducts a poll among readers each year and publishes the results in its Word's Best Awards issue.

"It is an honor to rank on the World's Best List," says Rusty Parrot General Manager Jim Promo. "Our staff works very hard to maintain our high service standards, so it is especially meaningful to be recognized for those efforts by our guests who participated in the poll."

Other Jackson Hole area properties in addition to the Rusty Parrot that made the World's Best list include the Four Seasons, Jackson Hole, rated number 9, and Teton Mountain Lodge, rated number 64. The three were the only Wyoming properties recognized on the list.

A member of Small Luxury Hotels of the World, the Rusty Parrot Lodge & Spa was built in 1990 by owner Ron Harrison, who envisioned a different type of lodge near the shopping, art galleries, and restaurants of Jackson's Town Square. Since its inception, the Lodge has been recognized with many prestigious awards including the AAA Four Diamond Award, Conde Nast Traveler's Gold List and Travel + Leisure's World's Best Awards—including being rated number one hotel in the Continental U.S. and Canada by readers in 2005. The Rusty Parrot has been featured in media including NBC's "The Today Show," USA Today and The New York Times. The Rusty Parrot and its Wild Sage restaurant continue to be Jackson's only lodge and restaurant combination to receive the prestigious AAA Four Diamond Award.
